

FEB 2017

SUN

MON

TUE

WED

THU

FRI

SAT

01

Someone you interact with today is not wearing underwear that belongs to them. Let the games begin!

02

Your deep seated paranoia is justified...which paranoia I refer to is unclear.

03

The stars offer words of warning today, stop texting and start working.

04

05

You will come face-to-face with a moron before noon. Unfortunately he/she outranks you.

06

Somewhere in your organization, a person is plotting your slow and painful death. Have a great day!

07

Be wary of putting you meal in the microwave. (Seriously, have you looked in that thing? Eew...)

08

"A fool and his money" are actually a line item on our department's budget.

09

Beware the man that strains the dress code with cargo pants.

10

11

12

Your technology is going to fail you at the least inopportune moment today.

13

Someone IS stealing your office supplies.

14

You will attend a conference call that warps the space-time continuum today.

15

You heard a buzzword or acronym this week that will make your life a living hell in the months to come.

16

Someone is watching you, not in a good way, but a stalker/serial killer kind of way. Be careful of be a strange smell in the attic.

17

18

19

Security is monitoring your movements. They have so little to keep them busy...

20

You will be confronted by a sad little man today. The sooner he leaves the happier you'll be.

21

Today you will validate what your manager thinks of you.

22

Don't set expectations that others have to meet. (When you do that you're just a dick)

23

There is a meeting happening right now that will impact your career. (Please update your LinkedIn profile)

24

25

26

That job you applied for...it's going to some idiot that wandered in off the street. He can't tie his shoes.

27

The morning brings a call with a barking dog in the background. He is trying to communicate with a squirrel in his yard.

28